Classical Kannada Centre to be shifted out of Mysuru ?

Central Government to merge Classical Kannada Centre with Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya at Nagpur

A deep conspiracy which will be opposed, says Kannada Development Authority Chairman T.S. Nagabharana

Mysuru, Sept. 23 (BCT)- Mysuru-based Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL), set up over 50 years ago to promote Indian languages, will be upgraded to a Central University and will be a part of Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya to be set up at Nagpur in Maharashtra. Also, the Indian Institute of Translation and Interpretation (IITI) will be housed at the present CIIL building in Mysuru.

While it is a good thing for CIIL to be upgraded into a Central University, the main casualty is the Centre of Excellence for Studies in Classical Kannada (CESCK) presently housed at CIIL. With this CESCK will lose its classical identity or autonomous status and would be relegated to be just a 'Kannada Department' in Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya, Nagpur along with other Classical Languages like Tamil, Odiya and Telugu.

Highly placed sources told Star of Mysore that Deputy Secretary, Department of Higher Education (Language Division), Ministry of Education, Suman Dixit has written to CIIL Director Shailendra Mohan on Sept. 6 (the copy of which is with SOM) regarding the implementation of certain recommendations under the National Education Policy-2020 (NEP-2020).

Expansion and merger

In one of its recommendations, the Ministry official states under the title 'Institutes of Classical Languages', "CIIL to explore the possibility of expanding their scope of work regarding the Centres of Excellence for Classical Languages under its administrative control and Central Institute of Classical Tamil (CICT), Chennai in respect of Classical Tamil."

In another recommendation under the title 'Classical Language Institutes will aim to be merged with Universities, while maintaining their Autonomy', the letter states, "CIIL and CICT need to ascertain the views of the CIIL, Mysuru and Centres of Excellence of Classical Languages regarding the proposed merger with the Universities."

The notification from the Centre clearly states that the CESCK will be merged with the Central University, that is Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya. Sources said that if the CIIL is given the status of a Central University, then there is no question of autonomous status for CESCK and it will be only a 'Department of Kannada', stripped of its classical status.

MoU pending with Centre

Notably, apart from CIIL, the Centre's communication has also been sent to CICT in Chennai. People in the know of things said that this is nothing but hegemony and is a deeper and longer conspiracy to shift CESCK from Mysuru and CICT from Chennai. "This is the reason why the Central Government is not clearing the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the University of Mysore for allotment of land for CESCK," sources said.

Wasted Tiles, But...

As terracotta tiles break, MUDA begins Rs. 25 lakh project to put red oxide concrete top on Torchlight Parade Grounds compound

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

MAXIMUM CITIES: When Bunny and I moved to it from Delhi 25 years ago, Gurgaon really was a gaon, a village. At least the new Gurgaon was; the congested town of old Gurgaon was tucked away beyond a horizon of green fields. Camel caravans from neighbouring Rajasthan would pace by in elegant italic stride, ridden by lean men in resplendent turbans. Sightings of peacocks and owls were commonplace. There were rumours of jackals, a possibility of leopards.

We went for a week's holiday. When we came back, the fields had become a huge parking lot. A parking lot for camels? For owls and peacocks? No. For the thousands of vehicles of the multi-storeyed structures of steel and glass and concrete that had erupted overnight out of the earth to encircle us. Gurgaon had become Gurcity, complete with malls, multiplexes, hotels, sky-scraping condos, traffic jams, and a population of 1.5 million. And the same thing is happening all over the country. Urban India is swallowing up rural India with a ravenous, and seemingly inexhaustible, appetite.

Before Independence, nine out of 10 Indians lived in villages. Today one out of three Indians live in towns and cities. And a UN estimate reckons that when India turns 100, more than half of its population will be crowded into megacities. By 2030, Delhi is projected to be the most populous in ban agglomeration on the planet, a vast megapolis with a population of 38.9 million, with Mumbai taking sixth place with 24.6 million residents.

The dancing mangrove trees of Sumba Island

Sumba Island: Indonesia's remote Sumba Island is famous for a great many things, but above all its uniquely shaped mangroves, dubbed "dancing trees" for the way they seem to sway with the setting sun in the background.

Calm waters, a white sandy beach, and inviting waters are all things you can expect to find at Walakiri Beach, one of the top tourist spots on Sumba Island. But that's not why people flock to this small tropical paradise. What draws people to Walakiri are the dozens of unique mangrove trees lining the beach, some of which are so bizarrely shaped they almost look like they are frozen in a dancing motion.

Every day at sunset the waters recede to reveal the roots of the dwarf mangrove trees, and that's when the magic happens. Professional and amateur photographers from all over the world travel to Walakiri Beach to hopefully catch a perfect shot of the mangroves.

Highest placements at NIEIT in spite of second wave

Mysuru, Sept. 23- In spite of the second wave of the pandemic, more than 85 percent of all eligible students (outgoing batch of 2020-21) have been placed this year, said Dr. Bansilal, Principal NIE Institute of Technology (NIEIT), Hootagalli Industrial Area, Koorgalli village, Mysuru.

"All this is because of the extra efforts put in by the faculty and the Placement and Training Cell," he added.

"Additional training was imparted for students in terms of aptitude, verbal, group discussion and also technical skills. Special lectures by alumni were arranged and also sessions on mock interviews & how to write resumes. While 84 companies provided placement opportunities last year, 105 companies provided placement opportunities this year, indicating the high acceptability of our Institute graduates among companies, especially in today's competitive world," he said.

Placement pooling was also arranged with autonomous Institute NIE.

All these efforts helped the students to improve the placements this year. Top notch companies visited the campus.

The Institute is also involved in internship arrangement for students and stands at the 663 rank at all India level and at 250 rank at the south zone level as per INTERNSHALA — an AICTE recognised agency. Free coaching was provided to take up GATE exam as part of career counselling, he added.

VOICE OF THE READER

Plea to revise timings

of Mysuru-Chamarajanagar train

Sir,

We are aware that five trains were running on a daily basis from Mysuru to Chamarajanagar. There were two passenger and two express trains.

The running time of the passenger trains was such that the very first train reached Chamarajanagar before 7 am and the second train reached Chamarajanagar at 9.10 am. These timings were very much suitable to those going to work in Chamarajanagar.

But after the stoppage of these trains due to COVID-19 and when restarted, the passenger train timings were changed. The first passenger train reaching Chamarajanagar is at its pre-COVID times but the arrival of the second passenger train is at 10.50 am. This timing is not at all suitable for employees.

I have made several requests to the Railway Officials and the Railway Minister to get the second passenger train (Train No. 06223) to run in such a way that it reaches Chamarajanagar at 9.10 am but in vain. On behalf of the travelling public, I would like to draw the attention of the Railway authorities to look into this issue and help the travellers.

Stray dogs, birds poisoned

Mysuru, Sept. 23 (RKB&AK)- In a heinous incident of animal cruelty, the carcass of a stray dog and birds, suspected to be poisoned by the miscreants, were found in city.

The incident took place in Puttegowda Layout near Maratikyathanahalli Gate located in Bogadi Road on Tuesday.

Miscreants managed to mix poison in the food which was kept in a paper plate for stray dogs.

Locals informed Star of Mysore that after consuming the food, 4-5 stray dogs behaved in an unusual manner and suspected that all of them may have died elsewhere.

Also, 5 sparrows were found dead after allegedly eating the poisonous food. After looking at the condition of the stray dog, residents immediately alerted the members of People For Animal (PFA).

Also, Mysuru Dog Breeders Welfare Association President Kumar informed that a Police complaint will be filed at Yelwal Police Station and officials will be demanded to take strict action against the miscreants.

'Mysuru Police failed to prevent gang rape'

Opposition Leader Siddharamaiah tears into law and order machinery

Bengaluru, Sept. 23 (KMS& BCT)- The gang rape of an MBA student at the foot of Chamundi Hill in Mysuru on Aug. 24 reverberated in the State Assembly yesterday with former Chief Minister and Opposition Leader Siddharamaiah stating that the incident took place squarely due to the negligence of the Police administration.

Mincing no words, Siddharamaiah said that Mysuru Police were indulging in hafta business from bars and restaurants and had no time to ensure the safety and security of women and children. "This is purely the failure of the Police and the law and order machinery in Mysuru, known for its culture and education centres," he charged.

"There was a 15 to 16-hour delay in filing an FIR and there were efforts to hush up the case as the incident sullied the image of the Government. The Police here are lethargic and irresponsible and an example of this is that the Police chose to admit the victim to a private hospital instead of taking her to a Government Hospital as per procedure. A series of crimes have been reported at the foot of Chamundi Hill and the Ring Road areas. Still there is no proper Policing," he said.

The former CM demanded that the Police conduct the probe effectively and ensure that the culprits get capital punishment. He urged the Police to file the chargesheet within 60 days and ensure that the guilty are punished within six months.

Joining the debate was JD(S) MLA G.T. Devegowda, who alleged that the Inspector of the jurisdictional Police Station where the incident had occurred did not cooperate with the boy's father who went there to register a complaint. "Instead of registering the complaint, the Inspector bullied the boy's father for allowing his son to go out with a girl." Devegowda said.

Siddharamaiah

Replying to the charges, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra assured the Assembly that he would seek trial of the case in a fast-track court. He defended the Police response and denied the charges of the Opposition that there was a delay in filing of FIR. "The Police have taken incidents of violence against women seriously and this is not the time to indulge in mud-slinging," he told the Opposition parties.

Siddu's wardrobe malfunction drowns Assembly in laughter

Opposition Leader Siddharamaiah was so engrossed in a debate on the gang rape incident that he did not realise his 'panche' (dhoti) had come off. He continued his tirade against the Police when KPCC President D.K. Shivakumar went up to him and whispered in his ears about his dhoti having fallen down.

"Oh, yeah?" Siddharamaiah said with his mikes on. Taking the incident in his stride and commenting on it in his own humorous style, the former CM said, "My dhoti has slipped. I will continue my speech after I fix it."

The Assembly took a laughter break at this amidst a serious discussion. Even BJP MLA Kumar Bangarappa, officiating in the Speaker's Chair, was uncontrollably laughing.

Siddharamaiah went on to say, "My dhoti never slipped before. But after COVID last year, I put on some 4-5 kg weight. My belly has really bulged. My dhoti just doesn't stay."

Congress MLA and former Speaker Ramesh Kumar intervened and said, "Our KPCC President wanted to save the image of the party and Siddharamaiah's and whispered. But Siddharamaiah announced it to the entire House."

"People from BJP will be waiting to dent our image and this happened. Shivakumar's efforts went in vain," he said, laughing.

Replying to him, Siddharamaiah said, "They (BJP) cannot do anything to our image. This is the reason why I wear long kurtas for protection. This also saves me from embarrassing moments."

Survivor records statement before Magistrate

We will demand capital punishment: CM

Bengaluru, Sept. 23 (KMS& BCT)- In a major relief to the Police, the MBA student, who was raped at the foot of Chamundi Hill on Aug. 24, has recorded her statement before a Magistrate.

Basavaraj Bommai

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai informed the State Legislature yesterday that the Court of the II Judicial Magistrate First Class (JMFC) in Mysuru has recorded the statement of the survivor.

"After a month, our Police have been able to convince her to provide a statement. She has given her statement and this shows the seriousness of the Police," Bommai said.

Punishment for harsher crimes like the gang rape requires textbook investigation that has every element in order. But till now in the absence of the statement from the rape survivor, it had become challenging for the Police to collect evidence. The victim's statement to the Police is a crucial aspect and Courts have held that the statement of a rape survivor should be enough to secure conviction.

"Our Police officers were in constant touch with her parents and persuaded them to allow her to record the statement," the CM said and added that the Government will argue before Court to "hang the guilty" to send out a strong message.

"This is a very serious crime. I assure the house that the Government will build a watertight case and won't allow the accused to take advantage of any loopholes (in investigations or trial)," the CM said.

Vidyaranyapuram Jewellery Shop Dacoity Case

Pistol supplier arrested; City Police still in Mumbai

Mysuru, Sept. 23 (RK&BCT)- In a breakthrough of sorts, the City Police have arrested a person from Mumbai on charges of supplying a pistol that was used to loot gold ornaments from Amruth Gold and Silver Palace, a jewellery store in Vidyaranyapuram here on Aug. 23.

The pistol was used to kill an innocent bystander. The 9-member gang had robbed the jewellery shop and had shot dead 24-year-old bystander Chandru of Dadadahalli while escaping.

The pistol supplier has been identified as Rajan, a native of Mumbai and he had sold the weapon for Rs. 50,000. Vidyaranyapuram Police Inspector Raju arrested Rajan. The Police have already arrested eight persons including the mastermind and seven others who actually executed the crime.

Now with the arrest of Rajan, the total arrests have gone up to nine. One more accused nicknamed 'Budda' is yet to be arrested. He is above 60 and he had pocketed most of the gold ornaments, said Police. A Police team has camped in Mumbai in search of the elusive 'Budda.'

City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta handing over Rs. 1 lakh cash to deceased Chandru's mother at his Office this afternoon as DCPs M.S. Geetha Prasanna and Pradeep Gunti and Chandru's family members look on.

Mysuru, Sept. 23 (LNY&KS)- Mysuru City Police handed over Rs. 1 lakh cash to the family members of Vidyaranyapuram jewellery shop dacoity and shootout case victim Chandru.

The cash was handed over to deceased Chandru's mother by City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta at his Office here this afternoon.

The Rs. 1 lakh cash is a part of the prize money given by the Government and other organisations to the Police team, who had nabbed the accused in the shootout case.

Dr. Chandragupta said that the Government and various other organisations had given the Police team cash prizes for the efforts undertaken by the Police team to nab all the accused except one in a short span of time.

The Police team, understanding the hardship faced by victim Chandru's family, decided to help them and gave away a part of the cash prize they received, to Chandru's family.

It may be recalled that the daring dacoity and shootout incident where innocent bystander Chandru was killed occurred on Aug. 23 evening and all but one accused have been arrested.

Classical Kannada Centre to be shifted out of Mysuru ?

When B.S. Yediyurappa was the Chief Minister, there were plans to shift CESCK to Shivamogga but the plans did not materialise, sources added. It may be recalled here that last September, the University of Mysore had approved granting of a four-acre and 20 guntas land on Manasagangothri campus (behind the PG hostel) for establishing CESCK.

Later, the then Kannada and Culture Minister C.T. Ravi had directed the Mysore University to give 10-acre land at the foot of Chamundi Hill where the Varsity is planning for a second campus.

The land allotment depends on the implementation of the MoU signed by the CIIL and the Mysore University which has been put on backburner by the Central Government now.

Minister writes to Director

Meanwhile, the present Kannada and Culture Minister V. Sunil Kumar has written to CIIL Director Shailendra Mohan on Aug. 18 seeking information about the University of Mysore's offer of grant of land to CESCK.

The Minister wrote, "It has come to my notice that the Kannada Classical Centre is still functioning in the CIIL premises despite the University of Mysore agreeing to grant land. In the direction of CESCK functioning as an autonomous institution, the former CIIL Director had sent an MoU to the Ministry of Education, Department of Higher Education for approval. But after that there has been no additional information to the Karnataka Government in this regard."

The Minister has directed the CIIL Director to send a comprehensive report to him along with all the available documents about the present status of the MoU and also other learning and research projects initiated by the CIIL along with financial details.

Tamil Nadu opposed move last year

The issue of merging Central Institute of Classical Tamil (CICT), an autonomous institution, with Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya has been opposed in Tamil Nadu. The issue was raised last year by MPs and MLAs, cutting across political parties.

Heads of political parties had requested the then TN Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami to take up this issue with the Centre so that the CICT would continue to function as an autonomous body based in Chennai.

It was a 'hoax' bomb threat: Top Cop

Mysuru, Sept. 23- City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta confirmed that bomb threat received by the Office of Joint Commissioner of Commercial Tax proved to be hoax.

While speaking to media, the City Top Cop said, "A letter which stated placing of bomb in the Commercial Tax Office is a prank done by miscreants. It was written in just one line in English. Immediately the staff at the Tax Office was alerted and all of them were sent outside. Later it was proved to be a hoax bomb scare. Security is increased in the city, as Dasara is nearing. All the details of tourists visiting city during Dasara will be monitored through hotels and lodges."

Joint Commissioner of Commercial Tax Manjunath said, "We received no phone call over the bomb threat. Around 11.30 am, when I was in a meeting, Police officials came up with a letter which stated of placing the bomb at the office premises. After inspection was conducted by the Bomb Squad, it was confirmed hoax."

Wasted Tiles... at Torchlight Parade Grounds

But the public are asking why the terracotta tiles were first of all planned. Didn't MUDA authorities realise that terracotta tiles will break after some years?

Local residents say that the new MUDA project to replace terracotta tiles with cement top and apply red oxide on it is a sheer waste of money and could be avoided during pandemic time. "Wastage of public money must be prevented. Let better sense prevail," said a resident while another said it was a good move by the MUDA.

Surprisingly, even after two months of the works being initiated, MUDA Commissioner Dr. D.B. Natesh said the work on compound wall has not come to his notice. "I will check with the engineer and get more details," he told Star of Mysore.

With Dasara round the corner, MUDA has taken up beautification works. Till now, to restore the beauty of the compound wall of the Torchlight Parade Grounds, MUDA was doing patchwork to replace broken tiles.

Since the last two years, even the patchwork has not been undertaken, spoiling the beauty of the compound wall. All of the terracotta tiles will now be replaced with cement plaster, as a permanent solution.

The replacement work has been going on since the last two months starting from South Gate. More than 15 labourers are seen involved in the work. Already 50 percent of the works have been completed and the remaining work will be completed in October.

One of the workers at the spot told SOM this morning that they have been on the job since mid-July. "We started removing old tiles from the South Gate and now we are working in the East Gate. 15 to 20 labourers are working on the project," he said.

"A lot of damaged tiles can be seen on the wall located towards St.Philomena's College Road. The cement top with red oxide gives a fresh look to the compound wall. As there is no Dasara finale parade this year, our work has become easy," the worker added.

The estimated cost of the project is Rs. 25 lakh and MUDA has awarded the tender for Rs. 20,42,274. Contractor Chandrashekar is supervising the works. MUDA Assistant Executive Engineer J. Narendra Babu said that as terracotta tiles had become a maintenance issue, cementing work is done.

"This will add beauty and sturdiness. The West Gate is 178 meters, East Gate is 418 metres North Gate is 278 meters and the South Gate is 304 meters. We are hoping to complete the remaining work in 20 days," he added.

Will not allow shifting of CESCK: KDA Chairman

T.S. Nagabharana

Mysuru, Sept. 23 (BCT)- Reacting to the conspiracy to shift the Centre of Excellence for Studies in Classical Kannada (CESCK) to Nagpur after making it a part of Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya stripping of all its autonomy, Kannada Development Authority (KDA) Chairman T.S. Nagabharana told Star of Mysore this morning that they will not allow this to happen.

"Yes, there is a deep-rooted conspiracy to shift the CESCK from Mysuru and as a first step, the MoU between the University of Mysore (UoM) and Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL) for transfer of land to establish CESCK has not been cleared since the last nine months. I personally took the initiative of convincing the UoM and CIIL to reach an agreement on the land transfer. The MoU was prepared and the Central Government has to approve the same," he said.

"The MoU was sent to the Centre nine months ago and so far there is no news of it. We are happy that as part of National Education Policy (NEP-2020), languages are getting importance. Let them establish a separate Kannada Department in Nagpur as part of Bharatiya Bhasha Vishwavidyalaya along with the Departments of other classical languages like Tamil and Telugu. But we will not allow shifting of CESCK," he said.

"CESCK has to get autonomy and it has to remain in Mysuru. Language University and CESCK are two separate issues and let the Centre not mix both. We will take a delegation to New Delhi soon to speak to the Centre in this regard and we are in touch with BJP leaders from Karnataka at the Centre including Pralhad Joshi and D.V. Sadananda Gowda," Nagabharana, who is also a noted film director, added.

During the weight training exercise, Dhananjaya was brought in front of Kodi Someshwara Temple in the Palace premises, where Gaadhi-Namdha was fastened on his back and the cradle tied on top of it. A total of 400 kg sand bags were placed inside the cradle and he was given training.

Hunsur, Sept. 23 (Raghu&KS)- A tiger, which had killed a tribal youth at Ayyanakere Tribal Hamlet near Veeranahosahalli in Nagarahole Tiger Reserve Forest on Sept. 8 morning, has been found dead on Sept. 17.

Addressing media persons at his office in Hunsur on Tuesday, Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Satish said that the experts of Tiger Cell constituted under the guidance of the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) have confirmed that the tiger which had killed tribal youth Ganesh is the same tiger which has been found dead.

Finally, on Sept. 17, combing operation was conducted with the help of tamed elephants Ganesh and Bheema and Ganesh traced the carcass of the tiger near Kallara Lake, ACF Satish said and added that the tiger may have died about a week back.

Staff of Special Tiger Protection Force (STPF), Nandan, Arpitha, Balaraj and Madhusudhan of Special Strike Force (SSF), Naveen and Gopi from the Technical Team and other Forest staff participated in the operation.

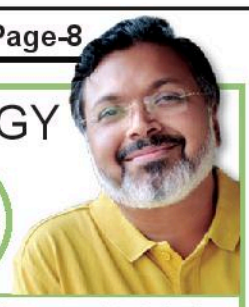
DECODING MYTHOLOGY



Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Tying the Knot

In Hindu metaphysics, Yoga is the practice of untying mental knots. Bhoga is the experience of life that creates these mental knots.

When we consume life, we experience hunger, fear, delight, jealousy, attachment, rage, greed, frustration, hatred, joy and these various emotions and stimulations cause our mind to be knotted.

These mental knots can be removed through introspection and intellectual analysis (gyan yoga), devotion and emotional surrender (bhakti yoga) and ritual activity and social responsibility (karma yoga).

This idea takes ritual shape in many Hindu ceremonies, where knotting draws attention to social responsibilities, desires and demands, while unknotting is an indicator of renunciation. In tantra, the untied hair is a mark of freedom. The tied knotted hair is a mark of domestication.

In Vedic rituals, the sacred grass is tied with a knot around the finger, and the sacred thread is tied with a knot over the left shoulder, to transform the body into an 'auspicious' body, abode of divinity.

During Hindu pujas, the priest often ties a knot on the wrist of the yajaman, or ritual initiator. This is the sankalpa knot by which the yajaman expresses what desire he or she wants fulfilled through the ritual.

We perform rituals because we desire something from the deity. And so, our intention is given shape through the sankalpa knot on the wrist. It reminds us of what we want in life, why we seek the Gods.

This practice spread to Indo-Islamic communities which is why tying coloured threads on the windows of dargahs is a common practice in India. People visit the tombs of holy men to get something they desire. This is expressed through a ritually sanctioned performance: tying the knot on a lattice window.

Weddings are a time when the knot is tied — literally. The end of the bride's garment is tied to the end of the groom's garment. The couple then moves around the sacred fire, publicly demonstrating their union. In South Indian communities, the necklace or 'thali' is tied by the groom around the bride's neck.

It is interesting to note that in many temple rituals, knots are forbidden. The priest performing the ceremony, the yajaman too, wears a lungi or dhoti but uses "tucks" rather than "knots" to keep the fabric wrapped around the waist. Even garlands avoid using threads that need to be knotted, but instead using vines of plants that are simply twisted around.

In Vaishnava temples of South India, the garland (identified mostly with the poet-saint Andal's garland) is not tied at the ends, and so hangs from the shoulder of the deity.

Knot means samsara, the wheel of rebirths. It means entrapment. It means bandhan, or fetter. The open garland is perhaps about challenging the limitations it imposes.

Yet, the trap is also about responsibilities of the household. Sisters tie the thread around brother's wrists during 'Raksha Bandhan' — a reminder of a brother's duty to care for the welfare of the sister even after marriage.

It is a ritual of siblings unique to India. This is a knot of responsibility, and a circle of protection, that became a mark of honour.

Football: A Man's Game? No

City girl, team-mates of Kodagu Football Club shine in prestigious 'A Division' League

Mysuru's C.V. Niharika with Coach H.H. Harish.

Mysuru, Sept. 23 (Akshay&BCT)- Kodagu, the land of coffee has a girl's football club now and it has already made a mark in the on-going prestigious 'A Division' League matches being held in Bengaluru at Bangalore Football Stadium. In all, 17 teams are participating in the matches and prominent among them is United Kodagu Football Club, exclusively for girls.

This is the first girls' Club registered with a Kodagu name in it and has been floated by H.H. Harish, a football player himself from Pollibetta in Kodagu. Harish is an All India Football Federation licence holder to coach future players.

Among the players in the Club is 19-year-old C.V. Niharika from Saraswathipuram in Mysuru, presently studying in National Institute of Engineering (NIE) pursuing Mechanical Engineering second year. As of now, there are only two players from Kodagu — Nikhita from Somwarpet and Parimala from Pollibetta.

"There are at least 30 to 40 girl players from Kodagu who are interested and capable of playing in league matches. In the pandemic situation and due to examinations and other family commitments, they are not able to come to be a part of the Club in these league matches. I have registered with the United Kodagu Football Club so as to not miss out on the league matches. If the Club fares well, we will conduct a trial in Kodagu for the subsequent matches," Harish told Star of Mysore.

Interested but no opportunities

Lending a helping hand to Harish is Kodagu District Football Association. "The United Kodagu Football Club is taking care of the food and accommodation of the players and the team is poised to enter the semi-finals," Harish said. He is the Head Coach of the Bengaluru-based Nakshatra Football Academy and the other players have been handpicked from there, he said.

"Hockey takes priority in Kodagu but there are girls who are interested in football and so far they have not had any opportunities. We provide a platform for them and the 'A Division' was a good opportunity for them to learn and hone their skills from other State-level players," Harish added, regretting the lukewarm response he got when he called for player participation. He hopes that more players will emerge from the coffee district.

Sharing her experience with SOM on playing for Kodagu FC, Niharika said that she was glad for the opportunity and grabbed it as soon as the opportunity landed on her lap. "I am the only Mysuru girl to be playing football at this level and I practice for at least three to four hours per day," she said.

Niharika started playing football at a very young age and her class boys were her team-mates. "Football is the only game that attracted me and I felt I belonged to it and it was quite natural. Despite facing obstacles and discrimination initially as there is a wrong notion that only men play this game, my parents were very supportive. And here I am," she said.

Notably, Niharika's coach in the University of Mysore is Ramani, a woman who coaches all the senior boys. "She picked me up and took me under wings and it was a magical moment," she added.

Niharika is the daughter of Dr. C.S. Vasanthakumar, a medical practitioner and C.P. Manjula, who was an Assistant Professor Economics, now a home-maker.

Team makes it to Main League

In the 'A Division' League, The Kodagu FC could not make it to the finals in the qualifiers. The team played its last match on Sept. 20 and qualified for the Main League that will take place later.

WORD OF THE DAY

Lucid

Pronunciation: LOO-sid.
Meaning: Very clear and easy to understand.
Origin: Lucid comes from the Latin verb lucere, meaning "to shine," which is reflected in its meanings "filled with light" or "shining." It also describes someone whose mind is clear or something with a clear meaning.
Example: "Kynpham's prose is lucid and engaging and often lyrical and poetic...." — Kanchan Verma, Wired, 13 Aug. 2021.

THE ODD WORD

Lacertilian

Of, like or pertaining to lizards.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Level playing field

Meaning: Refers to a fair competition.
Origin: The origin of the phrase 'level playing field' can be found in team sports that are played on perfectly level fields without a slope that would give one team an advantage over another one. The first record of the term's use in print comes from a January, 1977 issue of the Tyrone Daily Herald: "Our philosophy is that we have no problem competing with the mutual savings banks if they start from the level playing field," Bolger said. [John Bolger, lobbyist for the U.S. Banker's Association].
Example: "I feel like there's a level playing field as far as my opportunities for job advancement go."
